

ACCP 2022 in Nagoya

(The 21st Asian Conference on Clinical Pharmacy)

Sponsored Seminar

How to Emphasize Pharmacist's Function in Aging Society with a Low Birth Rate and Outside of Japan

The number of Japanese pharmacists to the population is the largest in the world. The largest recourse has been necessary for sustaining the aging society. Home medical care service is the one of ways for it and also for emphasizing function of a pharmacist to a patient and medical team including a doctor, nurse, and caregiver. Additionally, Japanese population size has been shrinking since 2010 due to low birth rate. The society with a low birth rate requires pharmacists to change their roles because their number to the population getting exceeded in near future. It is time to expand their skills and experience gained in Japanese environment over developing countries in order to improve their medical safety net. The presentations highlight core value of Japanese pharmacists in and out of Japan.

Chair Nobuyasu Sugimoto Established Full Ties corporation, President and CEO

Lecture 1

How pharmacists act in aging society and deal with the excessive number of pharmacists in the future

Home medical care needs the large number of pharmacists. With the services, pharmacists are responsible for providing a patient-centered-treatment with a specialists team. Japanese society with a low birth rate, however, has accolated the decreased in population. It is inevitable to have new services for people other than Japanese.

Speaker Nobuyasu Sugimoto Full Ties corporation, President and CEO

Lecture 2

Toward the establishment of Regional Medical Care Center

Regional Medical Care Center will be led by pharmacists and work with multiple professionals to provide health care and disease prevention for the local population. For this purpose, we need to collaborate with the local government and various institutions. The keywords are health promotion and self-medication.

Speaker Kazuo Hara Japan Medicinal Association, Chairman

cosponsored by

ACCP 2022 in Nagoya

Wakaba corporation

12:40 (JST) on Sat., Feb 12th, 2022

Webinar